NOT AS FAST AS HARVARD.

Cambridge Had Time Trial Yesterday Afternoon.

Putney, Eng., Sept. 5.—Paced by two scratch "wights," Cambridge did a trial from Putney to Hammersmith yesterday afternoon in 8 minutes and 5 seconds. Harvard, in the notable trial of September 1, covered the same course in 7 minutes and 30 seconds. The conditions yesterday were not so favorable, the Cambridge crew encountering a head wind all the way. But against this must be placed the fact that Cambridge had the advantage of being paced by strong crews, professionals taking them to the mile post, where a Leander crew took up the rowing and held the Cambridge men all the way to Hammersmith bridge.

The time of Cambridge at the mile post was 4 minutes 37 seconds, compared with Harvard's 4 minutes 12 seconds. Cambridge rowed 38 for the first minute and subsequently dropped to 32. Harvard paddled in the morning and had a spin of a little under a mile last evening, paced part of the way by a Leander eight. Time, 4 minutes 13 seconds. The letting on the race of Saturday next was even yesterday.

KILLED IN A DISPUTE ON LIGHT-WEIGHT FIGHT.

Companion of Dead Man Is Arrested, Charged With Kicking Him in the Head Early Yesterday.

Lockport, N. Y., Sept. 5.—As the result of a quarrel caused by a dispute over the Gans-Nelson fight, Joseph Lynch, 28 years old, was killed on the head and killed, it is alleged, by a companion with whom he had been drinking.

John Conery, 40 years old, is alleged to have committed the murder. He is under arrest. The tragedy took place in a hotel about a mile west of Gasport early yesterday.

NEAR LYNCHING.

Negro Shot White Man Who Argued Over Merits of the Gans-Nelson Battle.

New York, Sept. 5.—A quarrel resulting from an argument between a white man and a negro over the Gans-Nelson fight almost resulted in the lynching of James Marline, a negro, at Tomkinsville yesterday. Marline quarreled with Charles Curry, a white man, who was down, and as he lay in the street fired a shot into his thigh.

A crowd of men who were in a neighboring saloon overtook Marline, brought him back to where the wounded man was lying, and sent a messenger for a rope and Marline was badly frightened when two policemen appeared. The crowd surrounded his prisoner without trouble, and Marline was looked up. Curry was not dangerously wounded.

CLARKSON THE WONDER

Let Boston Down With Two Hits Yesterday

HOME TEAM LOST TWICE

And Both Were Shut Out at the Hands of the Conquering Highlanders from New York—Other Games.

Boston, Sept. 5.—The rejuvenated Boston went down in two shutouts at the hands of the New York Highlanders yesterday, the first by the score of 7 to 0, and the second by 1 to 0. The first defeat was not at all galling to the home crowd because Walter Clarkson, the Harvard boy, was doing the twisting honors. Clarkson pitched like a veteran, allowing the home team but four hits, while the Highlanders laid against Dineen so hard that he was relieved in the ninth inning by Glaze, after the game was hopelessly lost.

The Paris Guillotine.

No convicts have been guillotined in Paris for ten years, and the sentences of those condemned to death have been commuted to imprisonment for life. The reason for this lies in the fact that the law provides that all capital executions shall be held in public, and since the guillotine was removed from the Place de la Boquette ten years ago no other place has been found for it. The residents in the neighborhood of every place suggested object to its erection near them. The authorities were lately put in a quandary when a condemned man refused to ask for a commutation of his sentence and declared that they must put him to death.

PORTO RICO NEEDS SCHOOLS.

Only One Child in Six Can Now Be Accommodated.

New York, Sept. 5.—Representations concerning the inefficiency of educational facilities in Porto Rico will be made to the President and also to the authorities of his church by Rev. Benjamin S. Haywood, D. D., who has arrived in this city from San Juan. He is the superintendent of the Porto Rican mission of the Methodist Episcopal church, which in the last six years has established 125 branches, with each of which is connected a school.

"It is a deplorable fact," said he, "that only one Porto Rican child in six can find room in the schools of the island, because there are not sufficient funds to maintain an educational system. With the exception of $200,000, given shortly after the American occupation, nothing has been done for the education of the children of the colony, and the funds raised from island taxation are wholly inadequate. It was the intention that every child should learn the English language, but this is far from being the case."

THE ROYAL BOX.

The Prince of Wales is an enthusiastic cultivator of white roses.

Franz Ferdinand, who will succeed the Austrian emperor, is credited with the assertion that Hungary needs to be reconquered once every century.

The German emperor is quoted as saying that any youth of twenty without knowledge or education could go to any newspaper office in the world and, taking a position on its staff, write articles which would create sensations. The same youth would probably create a sensation as an emperor.

Few living rulers can claim the same distinction as the king of Roumania, who is a sovereign without having been born to sovereignty. A member of the Hohenzollern family, he was serving as captain of the First regiment of dragoon guards when on his twenty-seventh birthday he was offered and accepted the crown of Roumania.

BANK LOOTER ADMITS THEFT

But Stensland Puts Most of Blame on Hering

CALLS HIM THE FORGER

Chicago Bank President, Arrested in Morocco, Declares That the Cashier Tempted Him to His Downfall.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Paul O. Stensland, the president of the defunct Milwaukee Avenue State Bank, has made a confession to Assistant State's Attorney Olsen in Tangier, Morocco, where he is under arrest. He admits a share in the looting of the bank but puts most of the blame on the shoulders of Cashier Hering, who is in jail here. A cable despatch to a Chicago paper says:

"Paul Stensland's confession, made this afternoon, clears up much of the mystery surrounding the events leading up to the crash which involved the ruin of the Milwaukee Avenue State Bank. He took much of the blame upon himself, but declared Cashier Hering was the larger and that Hering got most of the money."

He exonerated his son, Theodore, and the bank directors. He declared it a lie that he had spent any money on women. "He said he had made up his mind to flee on the Thursday preceding the Sunday on which he left Chicago. All Wednesday night he wrestled with the problem whether to blow his brains out or run. In the hours of darkness he decided to kill himself, but postponed the act till dawn, and with the sunlight came the original intention to hold on to life, and fight won over death."

"His preparations were hurried. He had surrendered his life insurance policy for $5,000 and had received $8,000 as commission on the sale of the property of the Cooperative Store to the Northwestern Life Insurance Company, which had held a mortgage lien on the premises. He drew $1,500 as salary from the Mount Olive Cemetery Association. This was all the money he had taken with him."

"Why, with a million dollars of cash in the bank did you not take more?"

"I could have taken a quarter of a million dollars without trouble," said he, "but I did not want to. I never took one cent of cash from the bank and put it in my own pocket. I never took a dollar belonging to other people."

"I cannot understand how the shortage can be $2,000,000," he continued. "To my certain knowledge my liability to the bank does not exceed $500,000. Anything over that must have been stolen by Hering."

"My indebtedness began a long while ago, in 1896. I was in a tight hole and needed money. I put my own notes—genuine, not a forgery—in the box."

"Then it was suggested to me by Hering that the bank examiner would stand for it, and he did. He pointed out, in a roundabout way at first, that it was easy to obtain money that way. Then, when my own notes became too numerous, he suggested the forgeries."

"And you acquiesced?"

"Yes. First he tempted, then he urged, and I fell. Ever after that I was absolutely in his power. He owned me, body and soul."

"You knew the notes on which you were getting money were forged?"

"Yes."

"And you knew, even if you did not touch pen to paper, you were guilty of forgery in uttering them?"

"Yes. Hering had me in his power. He knew I was becoming more and more involved. He knew I had to constantly use forged notes, and as the price of my silence he kept a lot of stock forgeries on hand to be used as occasion required. I was his slave and could not get along without him. If he had been decent and honest I would not be here."

"What about Theodore? Did he have guilty knowledge?"

"No, my boy is as innocent as you are. He was only in the bank to examine abstracts. None of the directors profited by the stealings. Like all bank directors, they knew little of what was going on."

"When the name of a woman who has figured in the case was mentioned Stensland exclaimed:

"It's a lie imputing anything wrong to her. I knew her eight years ago, when my wife was alive. My attentions to her were no more than if I took you to a restaurant and bought you a meal, a drink and a cigar. I never threw away money on her or on any woman. I am 60 years old."

"Why should I fool with women? I never threw away money in any direction in my life. I never spent over $5,000 a year. I always was a worker. I never loafed in my life. I always was the first man at the bank and the last to leave it."

"The money I took was invested, year after year, in an endeavor to make good. Every dollar went into real estate or business. They were laid investments and today I am arrested a fugitive, with the certainty of a prison cell. And I am nearly 60 years old. God! God!"

A story was told today that Stensland has been marked for death by Anarchists of Chicago. The moment the bank president, now under detention at Tangier, sets foot in New York, his life will be in danger, according to this yarn. It is said that members of a local circle, as individuals, are being incited to kill Stensland at the first opportunity.

Acting State Attorney Barbour did not appear surprised when asked about the alleged threat.

"Oh, we have expected this all along," said he. "The life of Paul O. Stensland will not be worth 2 cents in Chicago unless extraordinary precautions are taken to protect him. Even Hering, the cashier, would not be safe on the streets of Chicago, and he has expressed himself as satisfied to remain in jail rather than take chances."

READY TO BATTLE AGAIN NEXT WEEK

Negro Pugilist Also Demands a Side Bet of $10,000—Weight Same As Before.

Goldfield, Nev., Sept. 5.—"Good, I'll fight Nelson again, if he wants to, but with this difference: The winner must take all," was Joe Gans' reply yesterday when a correspondent told him that Billy Nolan was clamoring for another chance for the Dane.

Gans was very earnest. He laughed scornfully when he was informed that Nolan had insisted that Nelson did not foul Gans, and that a deal was framed up by California sports to do Nelson out of the title.

"Who will believe that?" said Gans. "If you can find one man in that crowd who saw us fight yesterday who will honestly say that Nelson had the edge on me and that he did not foul me, not once, but a dozen times, I'll give him $500 cash. That goes to the limit."

Will Fight Next Week.

"Now here is what I'll do. I'll fight Nelson again next week, if he wants to; the sooner the better."

"I'll give him all he asked of me, so far as the actual fighting conditions are concerned. I'll agree to weigh in at 133 pounds."

"I'll weigh in a dozen times on the day of the fight if Nolan wants it. I'll fight to a finish. I'll fight here or anywhere on top of the earth."

"But here is where Nelson and Nolan will have to come to me. They hogged the big end of the purse by refusing to make the match unless I fought for the boxer's end, no matter who won. I wanted to fight so I swallowed, and so got only $10,000 of the $30,000 put up by the club."

Demands $10,000 Side Bet.

"The winner in the next fight must take all and Nelson must make a side bet of $10,000 with me. That will make probably $40,000 to the winner, as I guess there would be no trouble in getting the Goldfield people to hang another purse of $30,000 or maybe more."

"Now, I'll leave it to the sporting public, the sporting editors, or any one with a drop of sporting blood, if these terms are not fair. Nelson can afford to go in on this basis. He's got $20,000 for what he did yesterday. That will give him change enough to pay his expenses."

"Tell Nolan what I say and see if he'll be so anxious then to put Nelson against me again."

GOMPERS ASSAILS LITTLEFIELD.

He Declares the Congressman Wilfully Misconstrues.

Rockland, Me., Sept. 5.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has issued a reply to the speech of Congressman Littlefield, delivered at Rockland Aug. 1, of which the following is a portion:

"I saw only a condensed report published of Mr. Littlefield's North Jay speech, and therefore I reply, as was my original intention, to the one he delivered at Rockland Aug. 1. At the outset I would say that I have seldom seen a speech so full of misrepresentation as this speech of Mr. Littlefield. The false statements relate to the contents of the Pearce bill, and could not have been innocently made, because it seems that he had the bill before him and quoted from it. The statement of Mr. Littlefield cannot be other than a deliberate fabrication in the form of a misquotation in a most material part. Mr. Littlefield wholly and maliciously (I cannot say ignorantly) misconstrues the bill when he says it seeks to legalize threats to murder and assault upon property, or to legalize any kind of form of crime. Mr. Littlefield is not only an enemy to labor, but an obstacle to justice, right and progress, and merits defeat at the hands of all the citizens of the second district."

AFTER HARVESTER COMPANY.

Violations of the Anti-Trust Law Alleged.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 5.—Investigations of the International Harvester Company have been instituted by C. C. Coleman, attorney general of Kansas, to determine whether the concern is operating in violation of the State anti-trust laws. Applications for subpoenas prepared by the attorney general allege "secret arrangements and agreements exist between dealers in various lines." The application specifies that all contracts entered into between any of the dealers and the International Harvester Company for the years 1904, 1905, and 1906 be brought into court.

AMERICAN TOBACCO SAFE.

Taft Etes No Danger From the Philippines.

New York, Sept. 5.—Secretary of War Taft has sent a letter to the managers of the Tobacco Exposition, now in progress in Madison Square Garden, in which he said: "The demand for tobacco is so enormous, and the capacity of the Philippine Island to produce it under the conditions of labor, the irregularities of tropical agriculture and the difficulties of securing capital are much as to make any injury to the tobacco trade of the United States, from allowing the Philippine tobacco to come in at twenty-five per cent of the Dingley rate for three years, and free after 1909, utterly impossible."

Express Companies Call in All "Franks."

Washington, Sept. 5.—The express companies have called in their "Franks." They have notified the holders of coupons that permit free transportation of goods that their interpretation of the new railway rate regulation law makes it unlawful to further extend the favor. Cabinet members, senators, congressmen and heads of the government departments were among the lucky holders.

TWO DAYS' BATTLE

Heavy Losses Reported From Cuba

TO GOVERNMENT TROOPS

Cuban Rebels Outnumber Governmental Forces Near Cienfuegos, and Latter Are Hard Pressed—Reinforcements Being Rushed.

Havana, Cuba, Sept. 5.—An important engagement on a larger scale than any previous fight between the loyal forces and insurgents is reported to be in progress at Cumanayagua, near Cienfuegos. Fighting is said to have continued for two days.

So far the insurgents, who outnumbered the loyal forces, have had the better of the fighting. Colonel Valle, commander of the loyalists, is said to be in a disadvantageous position. Reinforcements have been despatched to his assistance from Cienfuegos. Heavy losses are reported to have occurred on both sides.

Attacked by Insurgents.

Colonel Valle left Cienfuegos three days ago to attack Colonel Guzman, the chief insurgent leader in Santa Clara province. Monday Valle encountered a band of insurgents under Major Postela, Guzman's chief lieutenant. The two forces came together near the Armic river, southeast of Cienfuegos.

While this battle was in progress Colonel Valle still holds a position near the river bridge, but that he is in great danger.

Colonel Valle's force numbered 300 men and the insurgent army was between 1,000 and 1,500 strong.

Cienfuegos in Danger.

If the insurgents succeed in driving Colonel Valle's army from its position, or in capturing the loyalists, the capture of Cienfuegos would almost certainly follow. The insurgent army outnumbered the loyalist forces. Cienfuegos is the third city of importance in Cuba, and its capture by insurgents would be a hard blow to the government.

There is no abatement in the activity of the insurgents in the various provinces. Major Postela, Colonel Guzman's lieutenant, according to a report received here from Los Cruces, seized the city on Sunday and gave a band concert in the center of the town Sunday evening. This concert was attended by leading society women of the place. The aldermen of the town defrayed the expenses of a banquet given in honor of Colonel Guzman.

Another insurgent outbreak occurred at Castell de Jaguas, situated on Cienfuegos bay. Thirty rebels entered the place and sacked it Monday, according to reports from Cienfuegos. No resistance was offered to the insurgents, the small band of defenders shutting themselves in the castle.

THINGS THEATRICAL.

Viola Allen will appear as Imogen in a revival of "Cymbeline" next season.

Blanche Ring is to star next season under the Dillingham management, using Lulu Glaser's late vehicle, "Miss Dolly Dollars."

Louise Allen Collier has been engaged to appear with Lew Fields in his new play which will open at the Herald Square theater, New York.

It is definitely announced that Forbes Robertson and Gertrude Elliott will tour America next season in George Bernard Shaw's "Caesar and Cleopatra."

"The Paris Model" is the title of the new operatic comedy by Harry B. Smith and Max Hoffman, now in process for Anna Held. The "model" of the piece is employed in a Parisian modiste's shop.

Joseph Weber is to produce a farce by Richard Walton Tully entitled "Strenuous Life." William Norris will have the leading part, and others in the cast will be Charlotte Walker, Jessie Busley, Stephen Grattan, Hugo Roland and Percy Jennings.

It is really one of the most wonderful tonics for developing the figure and soothing the nerves ever offered to the American people. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea or Tablets, 35 cents. C. H. Kendrick & Co.

CHELSEA.

Whooping cough has become quite prevalent in town and as a rule is going light.

Lawyer S. C. Wilson was one of the speakers at a largely attended republican rally last Friday evening.

It is expected that the interior of Fred C. Waldo's new house will be ready for the masons next week.
